

Occupational Research Summary (Exercise 2.1)

It is helpful to track your occupational research in one place. You can compare them and see which ones are the best fit for you.

Directions: Look at “Occupations that Match Your Assessments” (Exercise 1.4). Write these occupations on this table. You may need to use extra paper. Research these occupations. Write down the overview, education needed, wages, and job outlook. Also, write down pros and cons that are important to you. Using what you learned in your research, rank your top occupations. Put a one (1) next to the most interesting and 10 next to the least.

Occupation (from Exercise 1.4)	Overview of Occupation	Education/Training Needed (degree, license, apprenticeship, etc.)	Wage Ranges & Job Outlook	Other Pros and Cons to Consider	Rank
